Tutoring Experience

I started teaching Economics in 2015, working with high school students across A-Level, IB, and IGCSE curricula. My primary focus has been guiding students through complex economic theories, helping them apply these concepts to real-world scenarios, and preparing them for competitive examinations.

In addition to tutoring high school students, I've worked with undergraduate learners to enhance their understanding of economic history, econometrics, and policy analysis. This experience has given me a broad perspective on how students transition from foundational studies to advanced applications in Economics.

Currently, I also develop revision materials for IB Economics, ensuring they align with the latest curriculum updates. My tutoring combines academic rigor with practical insights, helping students achieve outstanding results and preparing them for university-level challenges.
